

ABSTRACT

A system may include a plurality of pliant conductive elements, a first end of one of the plurality of pliant conductive elements to be electrically coupled to a first electrical contact of an integrated circuit substrate and a second end of the one of the plurality of pliant
5 conductive elements to be electrically coupled to a second electrical contact of an integrated circuit die.